1ST JANUARY

FORSYTH, Emma Jane
Two little hands forever clasped
Upon a perfect breast,
Two little eyes forever closed
And sweetly taking rest. 1989.

MATTERSON, Alan Keith
Died 1990 aged 56. Rest in peace.

GRANTHAM, Josephine
Fell asleep 1990. At peace.

LOMAS, George Thomas
Never to be forgotten. Died 1991.

THOMPSON, Theodore
We had no time to say goodbye,
Many things were not said or done,
But there will be time in Heaven
When again we will meet as one.

PETERS, Beatrice Emily
In remembrance. A special friend

LATHAM, Stanley John
Died 1993. In Heavenly love abiding.

SMITH, Raymond

Dear husband of Joan.
Happy memories of our
Lifetime spent together.
He was greatly loved and
Esteemed by all who knew him.
An inspiration to us all.

ROBERTS, Violet Elizabeth
Reunited with her loved ones. 1995.

At a time of bereavement it is natural to quietly remember and express personal feelings. For this reason a Book of Remembrance has been provided and is on view daily at the Crematorium in a display cabinet in the Remembrance room. It provides an inexpensive and lasting form of memorial to those cremated at the Crematorium or whose cremated remains lie in the Garden of Remembrance. There are 3 volumes, one for each third of the year. A page is provided for each day in order that inscriptions may be viewed on the appropriate anniversary. In 2004 a Digital Book of Remembrance was installed in the Remembrance room. Original entries in the Books of Remembrance are digitally photographed and then made accessible via a date search using a touchscreen kiosk. This enables your entry to be viewed any time when the Remembrance room is open and not just on the anniversary date.

Housed in the Book of Remembrance room you will find the Digital Book of Remembrance Kiosk. Each time the Book has new inscriptions added to it by the inscribers these are then digitally photographed and added to the database on this kiosk.

This enables you to view your memorial entry at any time the book room is open and not just on the anniversary date. Using the kiosk is very simple to use and works by using touchscreen technology whilst following the on-screen instructions.

Opposite are some samples of screen shots that you will see while using the kiosk.

Final Zoomed Entry

To ensure that the Memorial Entry appears on the first anniversary, the entry must be sent within 4 months of the date of death to:
